

MONO CO

Figure 3 (to FER-162). Well-defined faults typically found in the Volcanic Tableland, based on air photo interpretation by Bryant (this report). Faults are mapped to demonstrate the density of faulting characteristic of most of the study area. Ball and bar indicates downthrown side of fault. Red dotted line indicates remnants of southeast-flowing, ancient stream channel now disrupted by faulting.

